RECITAL IS TRIUMPH FOR MISS SOVERHILL

A large attendance of music lovers and friends of Miss Lilla Soverhill gathered at library hall last evening to listen to the very delightful program given by her under the auspices of the Janesville Music Society. Miss Soverhill presented a most charming appearance, gowned in silver and pale green, and won the appreciation of her audience by the artistic beauty and delicacy of her interpretation, from the opening notes of the quaint little English ballad, "Love Has Eyes," to the graciously accented encore, given in closing the program, "Good Night."

Many friends, having heard Miss Soverhill only in the lighter music of songs, were surprised with the dramatic force and ability with which difficult concert selections like the "Ave de Salome" were rendered.

The haunting sweetness of the "Songs My Mother Taught Me," and
"Dearest" will linger long in the memory of those who were privileged to have heard them. The "Boat Song," was full of the rippling murmur of waves and the whisper of the summer breezes and "Down in the Forest" and "I Fear a Thrush" were given with exquisite delicacy of feeling and keen perception of the sweetness and beauty of the theme.

Miss Soverhill was given several tributes of lovely blossoms and most appropriately carried one of these, a bunch of red roses, while singing the song by Quilter, "Now Sleeps the Princess Petal." She was obliged to refrain from the "Spring Song" by Weir, where the beautiful violin obligato was most distinctly rendered by her sister, Mrs. Wilma Arthur, with a pretty little encore, "What Else Could I Do."

This closing number, "A Birthday," was given with the happy abandon and fresh crispness of girlhood and was received with enthusiastic applause by those present.

The accompaniments were very capably rendered by Miss Louise Bennett, while the trio numbers, "Adagio" and "Allegro Presto," given by Miss Della Scott, piano, Mrs. E. O. Arthur, violin, and E. O. Arthur, cello, were beautiful examples of blended harmony and faultless execution.

The whole entertainment was an example of the better class of musical selections rendered with faultless taste and with the keen perception of the inner meaning of the themes held in mind by the composer, and as such cannot help but be helpful to the musical and artistic spirit of the community.

Success at Last.

AT MYERS THEATRE, THURSDAY EVENING, MAR. 22.

News Notes from Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

A Motion Picture player is at the height of his popularity for about a year. Empires rise and fall, fashions change and take their turns, creeds change—and so do the flickering stars like short time ago Florence Turner was the brightest luminary in the movie zodiac. Then Maurice Costello, Arthur V. Johnson and Henry D.
Walthall each had a season on the lonely heights.

Last year the most popular star in America was Mary Pickford. Next year it may be Marguerite Clark or any one of a dozen others.

But this current year, it box office receipts are the criterion, it is Douglas Fairbanks. Coincidentally with the rise of the humble potato and cabbage, his stock has gone up until at present he is about the most expensive luxury on the amusement market.

His great success dates from "Manhattan Madness." Many discriminating people believe this to be the best comedy-melodrama that has been contributed to screen literature; indeed it promises to go down as the celluloid classic of its kind.

JEKYLL AND HYDE.
Winifred Greenwood, a new leading woman, is credited with possessing three distinct personalities, by her director, Burton George. It is not uncommon for a person to be "two-sided," but Miss Greenwood goes this one better. Without her make-up, she is a series of three persons; and, when photographed, she doesn't resemble either one of the other personalities.

Marguerite Snow has a collection of photographs which she keeps as sacred and precious as her own baby.
They are a series of three, taken from the time she was a week old, at varying periods of three or four months, up to the present day. Altogether, Miss Snow figures that she has been photographed by a still camera in about every month of her life. No wonder she should choose the motion picture profession as soon as it became a profession.

Among the players selected by Hwell Mansel for the Lou Tellegen-Mary Fuller company is Sydney Bracey. You will remember him perhaps best as the man who played the double part of the butler and the millionaire in "The Million Dollar Mystery." He is a good actor and a nice man to meet.

Tamaki Miura, known as the "Japanese Nightingale" of the Boston Grand Opera company, had a pleasing visit with Tauri Ooki when the company sang its engagement in Los Angeles. Miss Miura was the guest of Miss Aoki on several occasions at the studio.

A company has undertaken to visualize Mabel Herbert Urrer's stories of domestic life. The picturization will be a serial known as "The Neglected Wife."

Paul Panzer has two brothers fighting with the Germans, four cousins with the French and another cousin in Serbia. He's neutral.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, who is working on his picture, "In Again—Out Again," the plot of which is being kept a secret.

ELECTION FIGHT IN WHITEWATER CLOSE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Whitewater, March 20.—The election here on the third of April promises to be a lively affair—not only from the fact of the license and no-license campaign being hotly contested here, but also from the fact that strong candidates are opposing one another for office. Mayor D. F.
Zuill who has served the city faithfully for eight years is again after re-election. He is to be opposed by Mare Knifans who has many supporters throughout the city and the contest will be a close one. A. F.
Kraepelin is a candidate for Assessor.
In the First Ward the contest for Alderman will be a lively one between Ralph Fiske and T. J. Door. W.
Shock is in the field in the Second Ward for Alderman without any opposition as yet. In the Third Ward Alderman Frank Hawes is expected to run and will be opposed by Chas.

Sprachling. There is plenty of time yet for candidates to have their papers out and other contests may be looked for in the offices of supervisors and school commissioners.

Russian Talks Here.
Lieut. Swartzkopfsky gave a talk to both the High and Normal Schools on Friday and at the Congregational Church Saturday evening. He described the life of the Russian people and the conditions under which they lived. He claims to have been a former bodyguard of the late czar, and was sent to Siberia for refusing to shoot into the masses during the revolt of 1905. The speaker went on and told how he and about one hundred political prisoners rushed the guard one Sunday and made a break for liberty. About twenty of that number reached Russia alive, he claiming to have stayed at the home of Count Tolstoy several days. His lecture was very interesting and was unfortunately that a larger number was not present to hear it.
Arthur Lowry had his right hand badly bruised Sunday at the condemy when several boxes of canned milk fell over and struck him.

Roy Rockwell has sold his farm north of the city to J. C. Cox. Mr.
Shock and the old Whitehead farm, and Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell will remain there this summer.

Mrs. L. R. Howard returned home Monday after a ten days' visit in Chicago.

William Parsons of Hebron was a visitor here yesterday.

MYERS THEATRE.

"The Garden of Allah."

What is reckoned as the most fascinating and spectacular achievements of the present day stage, is "The Garden of Allah," coming to the Myers Theatre on Saturday, March 24, for a limited engagement of matinee and night.

In the earnest desire and tremendous ambition to give "The Garden of Allah" a bigness and realism never previously attained in material play building, a journey was made into the desert—a pilgrimage, veritable to the Hichens springs or springs of romance of his book. And from there was brought back, literally, the atmosphere, the color, the arching skies, the yellow sands of the Great Sahara Desert and all the other life-giving things, and all these are set before the audience in such marvelous resemblance to the real as to compel amazement and admiration.

For the remarkable prologue, the Spirit of the Desert, on to the gray walls of the Trappist monastery at El Largani, near Tunis, there is a succession of bewilderingly beautiful scenes—the hotel in the desert, the luxurious tropical garden of Count An-telous, the terrifying storm in that great "waste of the world," the desert of Mogar, the startling night, the blue dome of the heaven spangled with silver, to the peace-night, March 24th.

ful shadows of the El Largani house of the monks. To the audience the visions are always fascinated by some illusion of indescribable beauty or grandeur.

It is in its stretching solitudes, the vast, comprehensive, almost limitless vistas, reaching, apparently, to the infinite, as one must fancy, in their yellow somberness and solemnity, that give the story its big appeal, providing that convincing something which the reading of the book lacks.

The slow-moving processions of Arabs, horseback and astride their camels, the solitary sheik upon the confession of Boris, the renegade monk, to his bride, Domini, under the blue expanse of the night with its watching stars, and the final renunciation and re-entrance of the sombre gate, are all most vividly and potently portrayed, the final scenes touching the emotions with a deep and impressive influence.

The handling of the great crowds of Arabs, French soldiery and other groups of strangely mixed characters in the drama are accomplished through careful training, while the dancing of Fadma in the noisy hall of the Quoted Natives with the subsequent tragedy and hurrying away of the mob, are among the big excite-ments of the artistic accomplishment of the performance.

MYERS THEATRE.

It is not often that the dramatic critics of San Francisco, Chicago and New York agree on the merits of a single play, and it is rare indeed for them to become recklessly extraor-gant in their praise of a single love story. But both facts were brought about last season by Henry Miller's simultaneous productions of "Daddy Long-Legs" in the West and East.

"If you care for pleasant plays," observed the conservative New York Evening Post in its review of Jean Webster's appealing comedy, "if you do believe in fairies and all the delightful things that belong with them, the Claude Lorraine and the Marchioness and so forth—in short, if romance glows for you and warms the cockles of a still youthful heart within you; then it is hard to see how you can resist so engagingly contrived an invitation to be quite simply charmed and delighted. Very few persons in the house last night failed to yield to the spell. Critics went about smiling simply and sentimentally, eagerly less beamed; if anybody came with a carping spirit he soon had it bewitched out of him by the pretty little story, the gay little story, the sad little story, the quaint little story, the salt of wit and the sense of character embodied in "Daddy Long-Legs." Miss Webster's irresistible comedy will be made known to theatregoers here for the first time at the Myers Theatre Thursday evening.

The cast will be headed by Edna Walton, and other prominent members of the cast are Albert Roscoe, Julia Varney, Marie Taylor, Viola, Catharine Van Dusen, Perdita Hudspeth, Alfred Helton and Frank J. Kirk.

NEWVILLE SOCIAL CENTER STAGES SUCCESSFUL PLAY BEFORE LARGE AUDIENCE

Newville, March 20.—The play, "A Poor Married Man," given under the auspices of the Newville Social Center, Saturday night, was listened to by a large and appreciative audience.
Each character seemed adapted to his her respective part. Leo Alder, as the "poor married man," did ample justice to the part, while Lillian Som-erfeldt, as the mother-in-law, could not have been improved upon. Ruth Richardson, as the bride, did excellent work. Hazel Husen, Lillian and Maurice Cooper as college students, did their parts very well. Howard Richardson, as the country doctor, was disguised beyond recognition and delivered his part with dignity. Gal-len Pierce took the part of the darkey as one "to the manner born." Everyone pronounced the whole performance very good and felt that much credit was due Mrs. Onnie Sherman, who coached the work. We all hope we can have many more in the year to come.

FIVE MEN BEAT WIVES LAST NIGHT

If they had been rollin' pins it might have been different but as it was...

And five women received beatings from their husbands last night. No chance for any scandal or the airing of any domestic strife before Judge George Grinn because it was only a game of tennis. The female bowlers readily admitted their defeat but they wouldn't manipulate whatever with the game-checked pins. As the result the men won 1900 to 802. Scores:

Tournament Scores

Ed. Baumann's Colts rolled into second place in the Southern Wisconsin Bowling tournament last night while the Odd Five took third position, driving the Gold Fish into fourth. Both the Colts and the Odd Five had opportunities to take the trophy leadership.

The Rockford Reds are still in the lead with a total of 2508. The Colts drew 2470 last night and the Odd Five got 2450.

Janesville bowlers started in on their doubles and singles at the west side. Lee, of Rockford, is still in the lead, having won his 559 being in no danger this far.

The Golden Eagles took the measure of the Police Stars last night and won by 219 pins. Jim Skelly began rattling them down in the third game and before he had finished was the most surprised man in the house. He had rolled 214. Selgron and Fuzzell are improving fast and should make bowlers sometime. An erstwhile cop, Jay Hymers, got away with a bad start a la Harry Smith. "Billy" Mason made his first appearance as a police bowler. The scores:

General Charles H. Taylor, former owner of the Boston Red Sox and publisher of the Boston Globe, of which Tim Murnane was sporting editor for thirty years, has proposed to Dan Johnson a benefit game for the family of the dead writer. His plan is for the Red Sox and the Braves to play it in Boston on a Sunday and it is not believed even the most rabid anti-Sundayists in Boston would oppose. Mr. Murnane left a large family and it can use all the offering that baseball can tender. And certainly no one ever did more for baseball than Tim Murnane.

MANY PROMINENT MEN DEVOTEES TO TRAPS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] New York, March 20.—Interesting figures compiled by Peter P. Carney, Philadelphia booster of trap-shooting, show that many men well known in this country are ardent devotees of the trap game.

Among them he names Vice President Thomas E. Marshall, King George of England, King Alfonso of Spain, King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, Gov. Walter E. Edge of New Jersey, Gov. Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania, Gov. Capper of Kansas, former Gov. Major of Missouri, former Gov. Wert of Oregon, Gov. Ferguson of Texas, John Philip Shush, the bandmaster, and many, many lesser lights in the public light.

Theodore Roosevelt and Amos Pinchot, Carney writes, are two men who long ago realized the value of outdoor exercise as personified in the use of a gun. But these two, he admits, have never displayed any great hankering for the tame method of killing birds made of clay.

Carney picks out a few mayors for public approval who are trap enthusiasts. Charles A. Fleming, mayor of Spokane, Wash., he says, broke 90 per cent of the traps thrown for him at the Northwest Sportsmen's association shoot last summer.

R. E. Duval, mayor of Belleville, Ill., a year ago tied for first place in the Southern Trapshooting Handicap at Memphis.

Mayor Thomas B. Smith of Philadelphia is a member of a gun club and often takes part in contests.

MORRIS MILLER

New York fans will be much interested in Frank Glumole's work this season. Until this player was hurt last year he was making a fine showing, and it was predicted that he was destined to become one of the stars of the league. Then a broken leg put him out of the game for the entire season after he had played fifty-eight games.

The three-year-old thoroughbred stallion North Star, recently brought to this country, was portended best two-year-old in England last season, although he did not make a clean sweep of the events for his age, as some colts have done. His most notable victory was in the Middle Park plate, and another fixture that told him is the Barton Mills Nursery handicap. As the latter race is over seven furlongs, rather a longish distance for two-year-olds, and North Star won in impressive fashion a colt that had considerable quality he looks like a fair type of the English racer. His merits, however, will be given a thorough test, as he is to race on this side his first essay being the Kentucky Derby. While this event is nothing like what it used to be in respect of the number of starters and the class of the entrants it usually furnishes a small field that are above the average and as North Star is receiving a thorough winter preparation for the stake and is being trained by a very capable man, Walter Jennings, the public will get an early line on him.

Turkey (Thomas) Bowman, who was secured by the St. Louis Cardinals from Hannibal of the Three-Doubtless Loudon is seeing Red and feeling blue.

Pitcher Charles (Babe) Adams is back in the Western league. He has signed with the St. Joseph club. After his release by Pittsburgh last season he took a good rest and now believes he is due for a strong comeback.

Frank Chance of Los Angeles and Joe Tinker of Columbus, former teammates and comrades, are in a falling out over the case of Yaddo Kilfliter. It was Tinker who blocked the transfer of Kilfliter from Louisville to Los Angeles. Tinker, however, offered to make a deal with Chance, but the latter saw red and would not consider it. Kilfliter has been helping it along by declaring he will play in Los Angeles or nowhere.

Some statistics have been furnished on two combs to the major leagues that are interesting. They concern Ping Bodie and Harry Wolter. This shows that each player, in his major league career, batted the same grand total—274. Wolter, however, has much on Bodie in the way of stealing bases and scoring runs.

Hub Perdue has quit—that is, he has quit betting. Annually Hub has bet he would quit baseball, putting up a multitude of hats and things on his retirement. Each spring, however, he gets the fever again, with the result that he loses the bets. Now he says he won't bet on his retirement again, because he can't gauge himself well enough.

Mike Mowrey, disappointed at the contract tendered him by the Brooklyn club, says he has retired. However, he makes the provision that he will reconsider if the ante is raised. Mowrey also "retired" in spirit when playing with the Cardinals and the Pirates, though he stuck around on the payroll, so his action is not unusual for him.

Chick Fraser, Pirate scout, handed Fred Clarke a check for $800 last fall and told him to invest it in a bit of oil land for him. When the opportunity came, Fred purchased some property in the oil belt and wrote to Fraser, asking how much he would take for the land in case somebody should make an offer. In his reply Chick stated that he would not accept less than $3,500. Recently Clarke had a chance to sell this piece of ground for $2,900, but he refused. Recently he received a letter from Fraser, inquiring about the property. Fred replied that he had just turned down an offer because the figures were a few dollars shy of the price which had been fixed by the owner.

Ben Brinkman, a banker, has been elected president of the St. Louis Cardinals by the new community interests who have taken a sixty-day option on the club. He is expected to serve only until the option is closed and the stockholders permanently organize, when a practical baseball man will be selected as the head of the club. Branch Rickey, in spite of denials, is still much talked of as the man who finally will head the National league club in St. Louis. Bobby Quinn of St. Louis also has been mentioned.

Owen Wilson, veteran outfielder swapped by the St. Louis Cardinals to St. Paul for Walton Cruise, announced that he won't play in a minor league, but has quit the game for good. His decision, however, will not affect the trade, for Cruise will report to the Cardinals and some other player will be sent to St. Paul. He should be a bear in Association company.

WAUPACA PETITIONS FOR NATIONAL GUARD COMPANY [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Waupaca, Wis., March 20.—An attempt is being made to organize a military company here to affiliate with the national guard. A petition, signed by more than 100 young men, will be forwarded to the governor asking that Waupaca be given a company.

JUST SEE WHAT THEY CALL JITNEY IN RIO DE JANEIRO [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Rio de Janeiro, March 20.—The jitney automobile has been given many names in the United States different from that bestowed by the makers, but on its first and recent appearance in this city it was promptly dubbed "Barata" by the Brazilians. "Barata" means cockroach. The Brazilian cockroach is about as big as a mouse and a racer for speed.

DRY CAMPAIGN STARTS WITH RUSH IN WAUKESHA

Waukesha, Wis., March 20.—A meeting of the Waukesha Dry League, at which Dr. Ira L. Landrith was the principal speaker, was attended by several hundred persons. Dr. Landrith spoke upon the "Hypnotic subject" from a general standpoint, telling what the "no license" has done for other cities and what it would do for Waukesha.

IT'S natural that a gentlemanly feeling should prompt one man to tell another about W-B CUT Chewing, so he, too, may enjoy the contentment there is in rich, sappy tobacco—and also avoid so much chewing and spitting.

The common-sense of it appeals to people with brains. There's no getting 'round facts, W-B will save a man money—a little chew lasts and satisfies. A 10c pouch goes twice as far as ten cents' worth of the old ordinary kind of chewing.

CAN FLY TO EUROPE IN FORTY HOURS, HE CLAIMS

St. Paul, Minn., March 20.—Parker Rickett, 23, today claimed that he could fly across the ocean in forty hours by using in his engine a certain oil formula he claims to have developed. He plans next to fly from St. Paul to the United States west coast as a gift. Whether it has been tested is not known.
